

Our Vision for SEND at Rosedale Primary

Here at Rosedale we welcome pupils with a range of special educational needs. As we are a small school with very close relationships, we see it as our mission to take each unique individual and develop from their needs, the type of environment and learning, which enables them to thrive. Our aim is that all staff have an inclusive approach. This is achieved through training and developing the culture of the school in understanding needs and how behaviours can present. All children regardless of need are encouraged to participate fully in every aspect of school life, and our approach to engagement with parents, means that they are central to the process of identifying need and target setting. Ensuring parents' views determine the way in which assessments are sought, we regularly seek external expertise regularly from outside agencies to adapt and develop personal plans and improve our SEND offer.

Mission Statement

To ensure every child with SEN is able to fulfil their own potential through in depth knowledge of need and engagement with parents and professionals.

'Helping children achieve more.'
